New Professional Services Firm Opens Office in Atlanta

MILWAUKEE, Wis. (July 7, 2004) – The Titus Group, a rapidly growing internal audit, accounting and tax services firm, recently announced the opening of its new office located in Atlanta, GA. With three other offices currently operating in the U.S., this latest expansion offers Atlanta-based businesses an experienced and professional, yet highly cost-effective alternative to the Big 4. The office is located in downtown Atlanta at 1170 Peachtree Street, Suite 1200.

“Development of the Atlanta office is yet another step toward reaching our goal of having 15 offices in major U.S. markets within the next 10 years,” explains Scott Seefeld, The Titus Group president and CEO. “With so many Fortune 1000 companies having planted firm roots here, the Atlanta market was one of the top priorities in our expansion plans.”

Founded in 2001, The Titus Group is a unique, privately owned firm that services Fortune 1000 and mid-sized companies in the areas of internal and IT audit, accounting and tax services. The company was built on the principal of being a team of caring people.

“We care about building strong client relationships on trust and a sense of urgency,” say company founders Ronald Bocciardi and Scott Seefeld. “And we demonstrate our commitment to caring for our employees by compensating and rewarding them well, many of whom are employee owners of the firm.”

The company's dedication to employing highly educated, experienced professionals was recently demonstrated through the hiring of Jay Steele, Certified Public Accountant (CPA), and director of the Atlanta office. Steele spent more than 12 years working with the Big 4 firms in consulting and client service, including most recently with PricewaterhouseCoopers. Steele also holds a law degree from Emory University in Atlanta.

"The Titus Group is composed of a motivated and dedicated group of professionals, and we have attracted some exceptional individuals to lead our core practices," says Steele. "Our passion for exceeding client expectations is something that will set us apart from the competition, along with our history of bringing proven tools and methodologies to our clients. We care about the companies we serve, and we want to see them succeed and prosper."

The Titus Group is also owned by its employees – everyone from consultants to support staff. This structure benefits clients as it infuses a personal investment in the business, which ultimately results in higher quality work and greater staff accountability.

The company's recent growth has been spurred in part by the Public Company Accounting Reform and Investor Protection Act, also known as the Sarbanes-Oxley Act. The law has created business opportunities for The Titus Group to perform independent work for publicly traded companies seeking to comply with the new law.

"We provide the added independence to the whole process of executing Sarbanes-Oxley," says Ronald Bocciardi, The Titus Group executive vice president and CFO. "Helping corporations comply with the new law accounts for about 20 percent of our current work."
